TWO INJURED IN AUTO CRASH ON CROSSING

Theodore Vaughn, 17, Taken to Beaver Falls Hospital.

CHUM BRUISED

Fort Wayne Train Wrecks Motor Car At Enon Valley.

Theodore Vaughn, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vaughn, of Glenmoor, was seriously injured, while Emerson Hay, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hay, also of Glenmoor, was bruised and cut when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Fort Wayne division passenger train at a grade crossing between Enon Valley and New Galilee, Pa., yesterday afternoon.

Vaughn is in the Providence hospital, Beaver Falls, suffering from a fractured left arm and injuries to his cut. Hay was discharged from the hospital after his injuries were dressed.

The two men left here at 11 o'clock yesterday morning for Enon Valley, traveling in Hay's touring car. Hay told hospital attendants that when he drove down a grade to the railroad crossing his engine stalled. The automobile was demolished.

The victims were placed aboard the train and brought to the Beaver Falls station where they were removed to the hospital in an ambulance.

ANOTHER successful ocean flight, with little margin to spare.

While two Americans flew the ocean, two others were breaking the record and endurance record, only a few hours old.

When this was written, Mandell and Reinhardt, flying in California, passing their two hundred and seventeenth hour of continuous flight, reported "engine working perfectly."

THIS is the important thing, that an air engine can run without stopping, 200 hours. In another year or two that will mean around the world in a week.

And only the other day France celebrated Bieriot's flight across the channel when Northcliffe gave him a prize of $50,000 for "a marvelous achievement."

THE Germans have built a real airplane. It took reporters an hour to go through its three decks, machine shop, sleeping quarters, etc. It will carry 120 people, and soon fly to see us.

THIS plane is built to stand a hurricane, and land on rough waves.

With one switch the pilot can shut off six of the 12 motors, change the gas, or stop any motor. One knob stops all motors in emergencies.

THAT'S an airplane, and only the beginning.

THE Russian government's new gun, firing 150 shots per minute, is faster, lighter, better than our Lewis gun.

Weighing 17 pounds and eight ounces, about half the weight of the Lewis gun, it sends a bullet 4,265 feet.

It is replacing the heavier, slower Lewis gun in Russian airplanes.

Of course, we are not afraid of anything that walks and shoots, but it might be as well as to be friendly with Russia.

THE Arctic explorer, Stefansson, and a companion, Anderson, have lived for a year on nothing but meat, eating enormous quantities.

Physicians say their health is better, their resistance to disease strengthened.

Let vegetarians muse on that.

THE rock in 1,000 million years produces soil, with the aid of earth worms.

The soil, after more centuries, produces grass. The cow eats grass for three years, digesting it slowly. Man eats the beefsteak in 15 minutes.

Great labor-saving device. Give your children meat.

DRESSES will be longer, legs less "stunt." Blatant is the word, no matter what the precisionist may say. Nothing could be louder than two intensely pink knees.

Evening dresses already reach the ankles.

MISSING

Police today had found no clue to the whereabouts of John A. Mercer, 22 Shadyside avenue, who mysteriously disappeared while on his way to work in the time office of the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel company, Midland, Pa., a week ago.

FOUL PLAY FEAR INCREASES IN MERCER SEARCH

No Trace Found of Missing Office Employee.

22 YEARS OLD Youth Lived With Widowed Mother in West End.

Fear of foul play or accident in the disappearance of John A. Mercer, 22 Shadyside avenue, high school graduate and Midland employee for the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel company, missing eight days, increased today.

He was last seen while waiting for a Midland car at the Shadyside avenue stop in West End at 6:25 o'clock last Friday morning. He did not report at his place of employment.

His widowed mother, Mrs. Ross Mercer had been visiting at the home of her nephew, Clyde Elkins in Ohio avenue, and the youth had promised to call for her Saturday night.

When her son failed to arrive Saturday night, Mrs. Mercer returned home and found the house locked. Friday's and Saturday's milk and Friday night's newspaper were on the porch, indicating that he had not been home Friday night.

Two friends reported yesterday that they thought they had seen him at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning. James Dimmerling, a neighbor says he saw Mercer between 7:30 and 8 o'clock.

The young man has aunts at Warren and New Springfield Ohio and Butler county, Pa. Mrs. Mercer has written to her sister at Warren to inquire if she has seen her son during the last week. She has not notified other sisters at New Springfield or in Pennsylvania.

The mother says that her son never carried large sums of money with him, discounting the robbery theory.

6,800 MOTORISTS FACE ARREST

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 12.—(INS)—City authorities today are faced with the momentous task of serving approximately 6,800 warrants on as many Louisville motorists, who allegedly failed to pay their city license tax, which is $10 for large cars and $5 for small pleasure automobiles.

Judge Fred Starck set July 25 as the date for hearing of the cases, and the authorities have only 13 more days, including today, to serve the warrants.

Faithlessness of Her Lover Costs Pretty Woman $5,000

Washington Police Issue Warrant for Raymond Mills.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(INS)—It cost Mrs. Martha Pulaski, 35, buxom and pretty, of Winding Gulf, W. Va., just $5,000 in cash to learn of the faithlessness of her lover.

The police have a warrant for Raymond Mills, 45, who, according to Mrs. Pulaski's story makes love in four languages.

Mrs. Pulaski has returned to her Winding Gulf home, and this is the story she left behind.

She met Mills three months ago in the West Virginia town where she owned a thriving restaurant. A violent courtship ensued, and Mills urged that she sell her business and come to Washington where they would be married.

Mills came on here first to look for a suitable place to set up business and several days ago wired his fiancée to come. She sold her restaurant for cash and because of that received less than it was worth, she said.

Her brother, Walter Chesman, a drayman of Winding Gulf, took her money to Washington at Mills' request. Mills met Chesman, told him that gunmen infested every street corner. Chesman entrusted the $5,000 to Mills, then the latter remembered a telephone call.

That's the end of the story until Mills is caught.

BEAVER CREEK VICTIM'S BODY FOUND IN RIVER

Drowned Girl Floats Four Miles From Tragedy Scene.

TOWED TO SHORE

Miss Frances Seckman Leaves Mother, Brother and Sister.

Body of Miss Frances Seckman, 17-year-old high school student, who was drowned while bathing in Beaver creek near the state line, Wednesday afternoon, was recovered in the Ohio river near the C. C. Thompson pottery, four miles from the scene of the tragedy, shortly before noon today.

The body was found while members of the searching party were preparing to resort to the use of dynamite in the 20-foot hole near the second Beaver county bridge where the girl lost her life and nearly dragged Miss Eunice Wright, 16, a companion, who attempted to rescue her, to a similar fate.

Boys Discover Body.

Three 12-year-old boys, John and Porter Mackey, brothers and Henry McKenzie, Pink alley, were walking along the river road when they discovered the body, clad in a green bathing suit, floating face downward in the river about 40 feet from the Ohio shore.

Police were called, and Albert Clutter, 27, houseboat occupant, and his brother-in-law, Earl Potts, 21, 2146 Crawford avenue, were ordered by Chief of Police McDermott to bring the body to the Broadway wharf in a skiff. It was removed to the Sturgis funeral home.

Identification was made through the green bathing suit, white belt and blue cap which the girl wore when she went to her death. Relatives carried the news of the finding of the body to the grief-stricken mother, Mrs. Florence Seckman, Dixonville.

Double Tragedy Year Ago.

Besides her mother the girl leaves a sister, Margaret Ann, 5, and a brother, Russell, 19. Her father, Emory Seckman, died four years ago. She was a member of the junior class in high school and also a member of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church.

The tragedy occurred almost one year to the day in which Mrs. John Shannon, 26, Midland, Pa., and her stepfather, William Klasey, 52, East End, were drowned while bathing in Beaver Creek at Fredericktown.

POTTERS' BANK SUED BY CITY

Suit to recover $1,046.46, alleged to be due on the daily business balances in the bond and coupon account, was filed against the Potters' National bank by city Solicitor Frank Hoover, in the common pleas court, at Lisbon, today.

This money is alleged to be due for interest on city funds from April 22, 1923 to July 1, 1928. The suit follows an inspection of the city records by state examiners in which a finding was returned against the bank.

FIRE STATION PLANS GET O. K.

Approved by the state, plans for the proposed new $50,000 Central fire station, prepared by Architect James C. Cunningham, were returned from Columbus today.

Services Safety Director Moore is expected to call for bids within the next few days. Ground for the building will be broken late this month or early in August.

MOTORCYCLIST HURT IN FALL

Shirley Mae, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Tucker, Dresden avenue, suffered an injury to her shoulder and a scalp laceration when she fell from a motorcycle on which she was riding last night. She was taken to the City hospital where she was attended by Dr. W. A. Hobbs.

"WE'RE UP FOR 300 HOURS," ENDURANCE FLIERS SAY

A certain second-hand airplane powered by a second-hand motor, but piloted by two first-class aviators, L. W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhardt, was still circling over Culver City, Cal., today, after having passed its two hundred and thirty-second hour in the air. As the black plane swung around the field and at each refueling, the nonchalant, light-hearted gestures of the fliers indicated their spirits apparently were no nearer the breaking point than the roaring cylinders of their 220-horsepower motor. They expect to remain aloft for 300 hours.

TWO CHICAGO AIRMEN PLAN 7,000-MILE HOP

Captains Ammel and Nelson Seek Coast-To-Coast Mark.

NON-STOP JUMP

Former Army Pilots Will Use F-18 Cabin Plane.

CHICAGO, July 12.—(INS.)—A 7,000-mile flight from coast-to-coast with Chicago as the starting point will be undertaken by Capt. Roy Ammel and Capt. C. E. Nelson, former army pilots, according to plans announced today.

If successful, the flight will establish a new long distance record, a new mark for non-stop flying and will shatter all records for distance.

The two plan to take off this month in an International F-18 cabin biplane equipped with a 200-horsepower Wright whirlwind motor. The plane is being made ready in Cincinnati.

A 550-gallon load of gasoline is expected to carry the fliers through Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Los Angeles and back to Utah, where their plane will be refueled in the air. Returning to Chicago, they will continue to New York, Washington and Cincinnati, and another contact for refueling will be made over Indianapolis, before they return to Chicago.

It is estimated that the trip will take two and a half days at a cruising speed of 120 miles an hour.

Both pilots are staff officers of the air commerce reserve and veteran fliers. They plan the flight to prove the feasibility of 20-hour non-stop passenger service from coast to coast.

SAND COMPANY WORKER INJURED

Theodore Farnsworth, 42, of 124 East Second street, engineer at the Eastern Ohio Sand and Supply company at the foot of Jefferson street, suffered a broken left leg while at work yesterday afternoon. Farnsworth was riding the bucket of the hoist from the railroad tracks to the barge in the river, when his foot slipped and he fell to the ground. He was removed to his home.

NOTICE.—All members of Frigate of the East Council No. 8, Jr., O. U. A. M. are requested to attend funeral services of Mrs. F. M. Ripley. Meet at Hall 7:30 this evening.

ORDER OF COUNCILOR.

AIRPLANE TRIP PRICES ARE CUT

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 12.—(INS.)—A drastic cut in the prices of airplane trips from New York to all sections of the country was announced here today by the Roosevelt Flying corporation, the operating subsidiary of Roosevelt Field, Inc.

Increased demand of the public for airplane travel made the reduction possible. Seth Low, president of Roosevelt Field, Inc., declared.

The price cut, which makes the cost of airplane travel for each passenger approximately 25 cents a mile, regardless of the distance covered, also marks discontinuance of the practice of including charges for the return trip, whether or not the passenger takes advantage.

WAYNE LARKINS DIES SUDDENLY

War Vet Stricken With Hemorrhage In Street.

Wayne R. Larkins, 30, of 321 Walnut street, World war veteran, died from a hemorrhage at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the City hospital, shortly after being stricken while walking in East Fourth street.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home of James R. Larkins, Railroad street, East End, in charge of the Rev. Frederic A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Auto Dealers Parade Old Cars Enroute to Picnic Grounds

Two-Hundred Attend Outing Along Lincoln Highway.

Old-style automobiles bedecked with signs and other original make-ups, paraded the downtown business district yesterday as a feature of the East Liverpool Automobile Dealers' picnic which was held along the Lincoln highway.

Each of the 20 or more dealers enter his oldest automobile, the machine carrying employees to the outing. Many cars carried tin cans, bells and other noise-making devices while the occupants were garbed in unique costumes.

Sales rooms and garages closed at noon.

TIME-DEFYING COAST FLIERS UP 241 HOURS

Mendell and Reinhardt Bathe Under Blanket Of Darkness.

'ALL'S WELL'—NOTE

Pilots Reiterate Their Determination to Reach 300-Hour Goal.

CULVER CITY, Calif., July 12.—(INS.)—With the motor running "sweeter than ever" the endurance plane Angelino passed its 241 hour of continuous flight at 8:30 a. m. today.

CULVER CITY, Calif., July 12.—(INS.)—The endurance plane "Angelino" passed its two hundred and forty-first consecutive hour of flying at 7:30 a. m. today as Pilots L. W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhardt hummed overhead for the eleventh day in their sturdy, second-hand biplane on their time-defying, seemingly endless flight.

Predictions of fog failed to come true and Mendell and Reinhardt were spared the menace they experienced the night before when heavy fog banks, rolling in from the sea forced them to fly at low altitudes.

Under the benevolent blanket of darkness last night the valiant aviators bathed themselves, after complaining that the sorely needed (Continued on page 8, column 5)

ATLANTIC CITY IS VOTED 1930 MEETING PLACE

Executive Board Outlines New Castle, Pa., Fight.

CONVENTION ENDS

Referendum Vote Called On A. F. L. Delegate Plan.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 12.—The National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which yesterday afternoon adjourned the thirty-ninth annual convention here, today telegraphed to President Herbert Hoover at Washington, urging adoption of a tariff bill that will give "complete and full protection to both American industry and the American working man."

Telegram Sent to Washington. This message was prompted by the announcement at Washington that 25 foreign nations had filed protests with the senate finance committee against a revision upward.

Copies of the telegram were also sent to members of the finance committee and ways and means committee of the house.

Atlantic City was selected for the 1930 convention.

The delegates also voted change in representation to the convention of the American Federation of Labor, which will necessitate a special referendum election this year. It has been the custom to alternate among the president, first vice president and secretary-treasurer. Under the new ruling, the president will go each year and another representative will be elected by the trade.

Endorse New Castle Fight.

The strike of 150 men at New Castle, Pa., occupied the principal attention today of the executive board in session at the Continental hotel.

Before adjournment, the Brotherhood endorsed the manner in which the executive board handled the strike at the Shenango pottery, and further voted "a fight to a finish." The resolution pledged "full moral and financial support to prosecute the strike to a successful conclusion."

This action gave the executive board unlimited powers. Ordinarily expenditures are governed by the constitution. Frank Hull, of East Liverpool, Ohio, the organizer, will be sent back to New Castle to assist the strikers.

Another important matter before the executive board today was the sanitary trade reorganization program. President James M. Duffy, of East Liverpool, O., will appoint some one to come east to assist First Vice President George H. Carlidge, of Trenton, in opening the drive for members and feel out the manufacturers in regard to resuming wage conference and negotiations, enjoyed before the strike of 1922 which disrupted this branch of the industry. The executive board will adjourn tonight.

YOUNG PEOPLE DIRECT MEETS AT CAMPGROUND

Pre-Sermon Singing
Featured by Free
Methodists.

PRAYER URGED

College Student Will Deliver Sermon
Tonight.

Cognizance of the part young people are taking in the church was noted by Free Methodists at their camp meeting yesterday when all of the services of the day at the Anderson boulevard campground were directed by the younger members of the denomination.

Another large audience greeted the visiting evangelist, the Rev. W. H. Lawson, of Greenville, Ill., as he preached his second sermon of the day last night. In attendance were many from other East Liverpool churches, who took part in the preliminary song service which was directed by the Rev. E. J. Atkinson, of New Brighton, Pa.

Last night, young people under 25 years of age were massed in the southeast section of the tabernacle. Under the direction of the Rev. Mr. Atkinson they concluded the pre-sermon singing by rendition together of the hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers."

The Rev. C. C. Main, formerly of Wellsville, but now of Pennsylvania, and a daughter, sang "Have You Counted the Cost?"

Camp Improvements Cost $1,000. The Rev. D. W. Rose, of New Brighton, Pa., district elder, announced that the 1929 improvements cost about $1,000. About half this sum has been contributed. Arrangements were made to make up the deficit.

Announcement was also made by the Rev. Mr. Rose that the executive committee had agreed to recommend to the next quarterly meeting of the Rochester, Pa., district that no further leases for lots on the campground be granted unless it was agreed that lessees would build thereon within 60 days.

The district elder cited the need for prayer. "We must get under this burden of prayer," he observed. "I hope that many of you will walk fast."

Altar services followed the evangelistic meeting.

Attention of the listeners to the recently arrived books on missions was directed by the Rev. Mary Leonard, of Sobbing. She declared that five American states in the west had been formed as the result of missionary activity. "Wives of these missionaries were the first white women ever to put their feet in that section of the country," she said. "And there is more thrill by far in reading of the adventures and activities of missionaries than can be found in any novel."

College Student to Speak. The invocation was made by the Rev. Frederick Diddle, of McKeesport, Pa.

Charles Wright, who for seven years has been the care taker of the campground, attends the evening services. During the days he is employed at a Chester, W. Va., pottery. His son, Orin Wright, a graduate of the East Liverpool high school in 1928, is attending a military training camp in Indianapolis, Ind.

On Saturday night, just previous to the evangelistic sermon, John Miller, a son of the Rev. C. H. Miller, formerly connected with the Rochester district of the Free Methodist church, will speak on the present status and accomplishments of the denomination's college in Greenville, Ill. He arrived yesterday and had a place on the platform last night.

The Rev. W. C. Long, formerly pastor of the Avondale church here and later district elder, will be unable to attend the camp meeting this year. He is now located in Jeannette, Pa.

Weirton Pastor in Pulpit. Young people during yesterday afternoon were addressed by Rev. Anthony Jefferson, of Weirton, W. Va., who, though converted but five years ago, has made rapid strides in his studies for the ministry.

He chose for his text the brief assertion from Hebrews: Jesus Christ, the same yesterday and forever.

In the evening the Rev. Mr. Law-

ASKS $250,000 FOR HER LOVE

Do you know how it feels to be left at the altar? It's a terrible experience, worth at least $250,000, according to Ann Livingston, shown here, who is suing Franklin Harding, inset, rich manufacturer, in a Chicago, Ill., court. The symptoms seem to fit a bad case of the grippe, for, as the young divorcee testifies: "Sharp pains darted through me, my heart hurt, the back of my neck felt drawn."

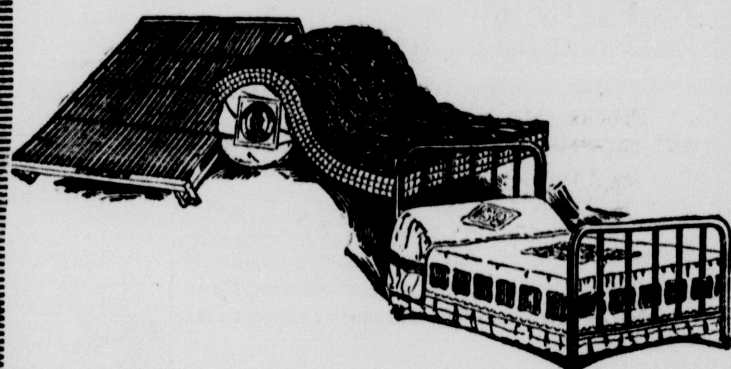

son stressed the necessity of casting Satan out of one's soul for, he declared, he was present in every unregenerated heart.

One of the features of the motor rally at Brighton, England, this year, is an "amphibious" class for motors and trailers carrying out-board motor boats.

More than 2,400 tons of piassava fiber, obtained from certain palm trees and used in the manufacture of brushes, brooms, baskets and hats, were exported from Brazil last year.

Funds are raised to resume the ringing of famous Bow Bells in London, which have not been rung for three years because of lack of money.

Season's First Drowning.

Beaver creek, recognized as a treacherous swimming place which has exacted many lives during the last few years, has claimed another victim.

Searchers today had failed to recover the body of a 16-year-old high school girl who was drowned while bathing in a 20-foot hole near the Ohio-Pennsylvania line. A companion narrowly escaped a similar fate in an attempted rescue.

This drowning, the first of the summer in the East Liverpool district, occurred one year to the day after a young married woman and her stepfather, members of a picnic party, lost their lives in another 20-foot hole in the creek at Fredericktown.

Three other Ohioans were drowned Wednesday, bringing the week's toll in the state to 20, and thus directing attention to the fact that, though one of the most beneficial of all sports, swimming is attended with serious hazards for those who do not know how to handle themselves in the water.

As Dr. Claude F. Fordyce points out in the July issue of Hygeia, the health magazine of the American Medical association, overcoming fear is the first requisite in swimming and life-saving. If a person keeps his wits about him his head will safely stay above the water, for Dr. Fordyce says that most bathers do not realize that the human body weighs only a pound or so more than the water it displaces. And he adds that cramps, universally given as the cause of drowning, are really not dangerous; the mental panic that accompanies them causes most of the tragedies. If attacked, try to float, not to thrash the water trying to climb up and out. The physician points that all one needs to do is to get the body in a horizontal plane and dog paddle to safety, for cramps usually affect but one limb.

And, too, in this season of accidental deaths from drowning, every one should know the proper methods of resuscitation, for ignorance of the principles of artificial respiration has been responsible for many deaths each year.

New Ohio Laws.

The month of July means more to Ohioans than merely the month in which Independence day happens to fall. It is the month when approximately ninety per cent of the laws that were passed by the legislature last winter go into effect.

The Marshall law to curb loan sharks and salary buyers was made effective on the Fourth of July itself. On July 9, the Bender law compelling cities to levy three-tenths of a mill for police and fire protection, became effective. Many cities are looking to their statutes to ascertain just what changes will be necessary to make such procedure possible.

July 21 is a really big day. Among the new laws which will become effective at that time is the Boden law raising the rural speed limit to 45 miles an hour and making the limit in residential districts 35 miles an hour.

The Cramer law which went into effect on Tuesday, July 2, provides life imprisonment for habitual criminals. Persons convicted of three felonies are liable to twenty years imprisonment and four felonies means life.

Other measures worthy of mention which will go into effect during the month are the Wendt law which prescribes a life sentence to bank robbers, the Ross law providing a prison term for those who sell liquor to minors, and the recodification of the criminal code which reduces the number of pre-emptory defense challenges in first degree murder cases and gives the state and the defense six each. This last measure is designed to protect the state against the subterfuges of lawyers defending first degree murder cases.

The process of repealing outworn laws has become a recognized function of the legislative bodies of the states and every year thousands of laws are thrown into the discard. Most of them were never heard of outside the legislative chambers, dozens of them were unenforceable, dozens more designed to take care of some local situation with no general application, and so on down to the new pages in the statute book where the new laws are inscribed. In their time, they too, will become dusty and some day a discerning legislator will cast a disparaging eye on them and away they will go far easier and faster than they came.

Sorry Showing For Capital.

Statistics just given out by Major Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, make a very sorry showing for the national capital. The figures show that the total number of arrests in the last five years equals ninety per cent of the population of Washington and exceeds the pre-war population of the Capital City.

Arrests for the five-year period ended last year numbered 455,875; those of last year, 122,028, an increase of 18,915 or 15.5 per cent over the arrests of the year before. Almost fifty per cent of the arrests of 1928 were for traffic offenses, the number being 58,887, twenty-seven per cent above the figures of 1927. During the last year 427 persons were killed in traffic accidents and 50 were murdered.

The bureau of the census estimates that the present population of Washington is 552,000. If its estimate is approximately correct, the figures given out by Major Pratt indicate that there was one automobile fatality last year to every 1,300 inhabitants and one murder to every 11,000 of the inhabitants of the Capital City. It is not a showing of which the country may be proud.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—At the meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce, now being held at Amsterdam in The Netherlands, special attention is being given to efforts to recover the ground lost during the war in the matter of international exchanges of vital statistical information and to lay plans for carrying such work further than it ever has gone before. Statistics is a word which has a dull sound, it is inclined to repel as having to do with nothing more than long tables of innumerable figures, of interest only to musty calculators. The real fact is that statistics can be regarded in a very human light. After all, statistics are the record, in a very condensed form, of human activities. They form an intensely human story if read aright.

There is an old humorous saying to the effect that while figures don't lie, liars do figure and experience eloquently teaches that there is nothing more dangerous than half-truths. What the International Chamber of Commerce is trying to do at this meeting is to lay the foundation for absolutely honest international statistics; that is, absolutely true and trustworthy figures.

The human frailty of falsification takes on a dangerous aspect when incorporated into international statistics and, without aspersing the national characteristics of any country, it can be stated as a widely recognized fact that political exigencies have in the past resulted in the serious falsification of statistics.

There is established at Rome the International Institute of Agriculture. The purpose of this bureau is to gather statistics on agricultural production from the principal countries of the world and give them out to the public. When the Institute was first founded it was believed that a long felt want would adequately be filled. But the manner in which the scheme has worked out has been sadly disappointing.

Year after year experience has shown that the figures are not correct. Sometimes, to be sure, it is very difficult to provide sound statistics. This is especially true of agricultural production. Between the time figures are forwarded to Rome and the time they are compiled and made public, violent storms, floods, insect pests and other factors beyond anticipation or control come into the equation to set everything at naught. That can only be helped by speeding up, gathering, and publishing of figures. However, it is a known fact that these natural causes are not the most frequent agencies operating to make the figures unreliable. As a matter of strict fact there is no business house in the world concerned vitally with world agricultural production of any commodity which places any material reliance on the statistics of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome.

The reason for this padding of the figures is that if it is published to the world that the French will not be contributing their usual quota of wheat but will have to buy from others, the wheat price will rise and the cost of living will rise proportionately in France. Therefore, to prevent the anticipatory rise, statistics concealing the facts are the only ones generally available until the moment France is ready to enter the market.

France merely is mentioned as an example. Other countries do the same thing constantly. No one has taken Russian figures seriously in years. Figures emanating from Russian official sources show just what the Soviet authorities want shown.

The difficult position of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome is that, under the agreements by which statistics from the various countries are forwarded to Rome for compilation, the Institute is absolutely stopped from making any changes or adjustments. The statisticians at Rome may know positively that the Romanian figures on wheat, for example, are wholly out of line with the facts but it must use them in its official compilations nevertheless. Officials of the United States department of agriculture have long since abandoned making any serious use of the Institute's statistics.

The International Chamber of Commerce now is seeking to build up a thoroughly reliable system of international statistics. The theory of the new scheme will be to use private agencies, in cooperation with governmental. In this way one set of statistics can be checked against the other and political considerations, party or national, will be eliminated so far as possible.

Q. How many women are listed in Who's Who? C. B. B. A. The A. M. Marquis Co. says: "We can not tell the total number of women listed in Who's Who in America, as no count has been made for several years. It is safe to say, however, that there is about one woman to every ten men. Altogether there are 28,805 names in the book. We estimate that about 2,600 of these are women. Q. How did the Speedway in Washington, D. C., get its name there.

A. The Speedway is not the official word of that section of the city which is so called. The public gave the name to it. About twenty years ago before Potomac Park was completed there was a soft dirt track which ran from 17th street diagonally to the river. Here it was possible to drive horses at considerable speed and in consequence the drive was called the Speedway. The name has clung to that section.

Q. What is the seating capacity of the main tent of one of the big circuses? R. P.

A. It will seat from 10,000 to 12,000 persons.

Q. What is the flower called in the United States that is known as London Pride in England? M. H.

A. It is called Sweet William.

Q. Are wild camels still found? L. R. S.

Q. What is the present duty on peanuts? B. E. N.

A. The duty on peanuts now is 4 1/2 cents per pound unshelled and 6 cents per pound shelled.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Thoughts while strolling: Wonder how a man comes to take up soiling on the xylophone? Beautiful mounted police horses that nuzzle passersby for sugar. Robert Warwick's red lapel flower. Tragic old fellows who sit on park benches boasting of authority they know is gone. Lillian Gish's eyes.

Sudden puffs of wind that rush crazily through cross streets. Debonaire wordlings who scratch matches on signet rings. The Chinese laundrymen who slip-slop along with arms in wide sleeves. Humming usually Chrystal Hearn, the celebrated actress, who married an equally celebrated editor.

Achmed Abdullah, a Paris France, boy, who made good in the city. A bird sings lustily on a skyscraper window—poor little fellow. Wish I could have Paul Whiteman play "Till We Meet Again" every night for dinner. Overheard from a cigar store phone booth: "Operator, I've given you the best years of my life."

A brass sign polisher touches up a policeman's badge. Gilbert Seldes has "discovered" Ted Cook. So? Stubby French umbrellas with carved wooden handles. Who remembers when they gave liver away? Hamish and Alimec McLauren. Leo Shubert, worth 25 millions, yet reputed the loneliest man in town.

The shuddery atmosphere of the cellar "take joints." Hard to find black bean soup in this village. Jack Laity, the most prolific of all newspaper writers. And a grandpappy. Andy Tombes, the comedian, and pride of Ashtabula, O. Edna Millay with her head knocking the stars.

What happened to those uke hounds who talked songs? Harry Acton, who meets the ships with pencil poised. Taxi cab neckers who don't care. Eddie Dunn, who at 70, is one of Broadway's blitziest dressers. Liner officers window shopping on shore leave. Four poms on a single leash—and all yapping.

East Side foreigners who wear wide black hats, black fur in hand ties and dizzy toned handkerchiefs. English women who say, "Ah, Delicious!" Whatever became of the candy filled lanterns they sold on trains. Red heads in green hats. A parched tournament. Is there no limit to the city's hellishness?

Edward Farnmore, Jr.'s suggestion for the theme song for The Well of Loneliness is She's Funny That Way.

The cigar store wooden Indian sign is a distinctly sought after prize by collectors. A toney art journal recently featured a page of ads from those who seek them. The choice selections are those hand carved in the early period of the last century. Some are worth from $900 to $1,400.

He was dapper, faintly rouged and habited in an autumnal brown with a soft pink cravat. As he minced across the sidewalk in his mignon way from a hotel entrance to the curb a group of idlers gave him the well known "bird." A $25,000 make auto with a plum liveried chauffeur drew up. "All right, boys," he chirped, stepping into the car. "Laugh this one off!"

Bernard Sobel, Ziegfeld's ballyhoo professor, asked for a drink of water in a speakeasy cafe the other evening. In about ten minutes the waiter returned with: "All the boys back in the kitchen enjoyed your joke. What'd you really have?"

A metropolitan editorial writer boasts of writing a full column of editorials every day for five years. Fiddlisticks. Those of us "Simon Le-greed" on yap dailies wrote several times that for years and also turned the press, set type, helped with the mail and "knocked down" a few subscriptions on the side.

We had exciting moments, too. There was the day Elmer Blazer waited for a cut to decorate the southeast corner of an inside page. The deadline arrived and the 4:15 Hocking Valley disputed right of way with a cow and was three hours late. Elmer slipped a petrified plug of Star tobacco into the gap. And we made the mail!

From a boxing academy: "We have a new instructor with an amazing assortment of punches. Won't you drop around for a short tryout with him as our guest?"
No, thanks. I'll just sit it out.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

When the word poison is mentioned, we think of carbolic acid or corrosive sublimate. If not one of these, it may be prussic acid. Everybody is afraid of a bottle if its label carries a skull and cross-bones.

But when one person is harmed by one of these, a thousand, perhaps ten thousand are more or less seriously harmed by poisons we rarely hear mentioned. These evil effects come from substances produced by the body itself.

Fortunately for us there are certain organs whose chief function is to get rid of these dangerous products. The kidneys, the intestines, the liver and the skin, when they are normal in their operation, carry away these evil things. They filter out of the blood and separate from the intake of the system those substances which might harm us.

These are what we call the "organs of elimination." When all of them function as they should, we continue in good health. We stay young and active. We have energy and the ability to express it.

In a sense, old age is due to the effect of body poisons. Failure to eliminate these harmful substances results in certain tissue changes. The sum total of these changes is that physical state we regard as the evidence of age.

There is an old saying, frequently used by many persons. It is that common greeting: "How is your liver?"

Perhaps we might as well ask: "How old are you?" or "How old do you feel?"

Of course, old age is not a state of mind. But you might as well be old as to feel old all the time. The desirable thing is to feel young and to act young, because you really feel that way.

If you wake up with a headache, with a stiff back and a couple of stiff joints it is probably because you have been poisoned. Of course, but just enough affected to feel mean.

You are sure to have this experience often if your organs of elimination fail to do their duty. You are certain to be miserable if the poisons are produced in quantities too large to be handled by the eliminative organs.

Your life should be so ordered that kidneys, liver, intestines and skin are in perfect order. If they are so kept and are capable of eliminating all the poisons generated in your body you can live on and on and look forward to many decades of vigorous life. Life, you see, depends almost wholly on how your body reacts to its own poisons.

Passing of a Distinguished Officer.
Rear Admiral Edward W. Eberle lived for less than a year after his retirement from active service in the United States navy. Small of stature, bearded and wearing eye-glasses, he looked more like a distinguished professional man or a foreign diplomat than the former commander-in-chief of the United States fleet. But his career emphasized that fact that the commander of modern fighting ships needs not physical strength so much as the qualities of leadership, courage and sagacity, coupled with scientific attainment; and all these may be contained in a small body.

Admiral Eberle saw forty-seven years of active naval service, commanded the forlorn turret of the Oregon at the battle of Santiago, was left "high and dry" with an assignment as superintendent of the Naval Academy at Annapolis during the World War and a few years later raised the flag of a full admiral upon the Pacific coast — commander-in-chief of the fleet. Gunnery, aviation, wireless communications, smoke screens, secret codes, torpedoes were some of the branches of naval enterprise in which he made extraordinary contributions of invention, coordination and development. His four years' service as chief of naval operations set a model for administrative efficiency. He was president of the navy's general board when retired for age.

Admiral Eberle was a personification of the modern scientific type that controls the force of gigantic machines and organizations by a nod and the touch of a finger and huris or withholds the thunderbolt with a simple word of command.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Train Your Mind."
Why don't you pay better attention to directions that are given you?
Perhaps you belong to a certain small class which never takes in directions thoroughly the first time but depends upon questioning as they proceed.

What is the trouble anyway?
Won't your mind carry more than one idea at a time?

Are you so simple that you don't comprehend more than one step at a time in things set for you to do?
If that is the case, you should begin to work up, on taking two, and then three specific moves without having to stop to question.

You can't have some one at your heels all the time to tell you the next step to take.

It is very annoying to the one who must instruct you.

Generally speaking complete directions should be given at one time and your mind should be trained to follow each step in order with an intensity of attention that will make a picture in your mind.
A clear mind picture indicates its own steps.

H. O. P. Q.—What should be done for a mucus deposit in the kidney elimination, staining the clothing? The condition is accompanied by backache. Would this be caused by a sinus and antrum disturbance which has lasted over a good many years?

2.—Is it advisable for a young woman of thirty to dye her hair—it is beginning to turn gray?

A.—Have a careful urinalysis and then definite treatment can be outlined. The diet probably has an important bearing on this condition. The infection from the nasal disturbance would tend to aggravate the general condition.

2.—No, if the hair is kept immaculately clean and well groomed the fact that it is turning gray should not be a detriment. A good hair tonic might be helpful.

R. D. Q.—How can I reduce?

A.—Weight reduction is merely a matter of self-control as regards the diet. Exercise is, of course, essential.

Amusements

BANCROFT HIT IN "THUNDERBOLT"

Bancroft and Von Sternberg! Marvelous portrayals of life on the screen. With "Underworld" it seemed that these two, star and director, achieved the greatest things possible on the screen but "Thunderbolt" came to the Ceramic theater yesterday for a three day run and, in the all-talking screen medium, the miracle workers have perfected a new and greater picture of life in the little known milieu of the underworld.

No stronger drama has ever been conceived; no greater emotional climax ever screened than Von Sternberg and Bancroft have brought forth in "Thunderbolt." Opening in the intriguing atmosphere of Hamlet's black metropolis, where Bancroft as a fearful death dealer sways the lives and destinies of hundreds of human beings, it swings to the awe-inspiring setting of Sing Sing's death row, where the final exciting climax in this most exciting drama are enacted.

The story captures and vivifies the dramatic incidents that cross the news horizon in the newspapers every day. It goes behind these flitting episodes and brings the whole tale forward. Superbly acted by a splendid cast, headed by Bancroft, Richard Arlen and Fay Wray it is a slice of contemporary life made to live.

In "Thunderbolt" the all-talking medium of screen presentation is exceptionally effective. There are so many things to hear as well as to see that the combination of picture and sound is necessary to the complete entertainment. The perfection of the dialog recording matches the perfection of the direction and the acting. "Thunderbolt" is wonderfully well rounded—truly a master motion picture.

"SQUALL" WINNER AT AMERICAN

After two tremendously successful engagements on Broadway, first as a stage play and more recently as a talking movie, "The Squall" blew into East Liverpool last night and landed at the American theater. It is another distinct triumph for the talking picture.

Judged purely from a sound and dialogue standpoint "The Squall" ranks high from any angle it is viewed. The voices have been recorded dramatically and naturally, the music has been synchronized adroitly and the general effect is one of realism and authenticity. Interesting customs and manners of Hungarian gypsy bands has been transplanted in shadow and sound making an ensemble of perfect action and audible entertainment.

"The Squall" has been faithfully held close to the original stage play

GIRL PATRIOT GETS AWARD

With her goal achieved, Miss Mary S. McGonigal, of Troy, N. Y., exhibits the cross of honor, the highest decoration of the United States Flag association which she won in the national flag contest. Mary feels her winning is all so wonderful she's afraid she'll wake up to find it is all a dream.

which created a sensation throughout the country, and the cast has been carefully selected for the difficult roles. The direction is of superlative quality under the guidance of Alexander Korda whose intimate knowledge of Hungarian and gypsy habits is evidenced on the screen, while the picturesque backgrounds add much color to the story.

The cast of "The Squall" includes such favorites as Alice Joyce, Myrna Loy, Loretta Young, Zasu Pitts, Richard Tucker, Nicholas Soussanin and others portray the leading roles. As Nubi, the wild, immoral gypsy maid whose seductive destruction is the axis of the story, Myrna Loy does the finest work of her career.

BROADWAY STARS SCORE IN "ALIBI"

For an hour and a half of sheer entertainment, nothing has yet come out of the motion picture studios to equal "Alibi," now at the State theater. It is melodrama, comedy, musical extravaganza, spectacle and romance all rolled into one, as thrilling to the ear as it is dazzling to the eye.

The director has taken a stage success, built it up into one of the year's best screen stories, added gripping and lavish sequences that would do credit to the biggest Broadway revues. West has, as a result, produced a picture that is certain to delight any audience.

The large cast is made up of well known picture and stage celebrities. Chester Morris, famous Broadway star, makes a smashing entry into films with his brilliant portrayal of

Pastor of Nazarene Church Quits Charge

The Rev. J. A. Stewart Sends Resignation to Pittsburgh District Superintendent; Plans To Take Vacation.

WELLSVILLE, O., July 12.—The Rev. J. A. Stewart today announced his resignation as pastor of the Nazarene church, a charge which he has held for three years.

In his letter of resignation to the Rev. Dr. C. Warren Jones, district superintendent of the Pittsburgh district, the resigning pastor says he believes that "the time has come for a change in pastors and it seems to me the best interest of the church to have it occur now."

The Rev. Dr. Jones in all probability will appoint a new pastor immediately.

The Rev. Mr. Stewart will deliver his farewell sermon Sunday night, preaching from the text, "We Shall All Stand Before the Judgment of Christ."

The pastor today said he will take a vacation.

In announcing his resignation, the Rev. Mr. Stewart issues a statement in which he says: "I have never accepted a dollar for preaching the gospel and all of my salary has been donated to furthering the spread of the gospel. I have given one-tenth of all my income to the church and to the poor for 29 years, since my conversion."

SPERBER FREED FROM OHIO JAIL

Brewmaster Named in Buckley Case Serves Sentence.

CINCINNATI, O., July 12.—(INS)—Joseph Sperber walked from the Hamilton county jail, a free man, today.

With the passage of time, many people have forgotten that name but not more than six months ago, it was linked with the name of Bert B. Buckley, former treasurer, who is now under sentence to serve two years and six months in the Atlanta federal penitentiary for alleged connection with the Cincinnati "beer-brewery-bribery" scandal here.

Sperber was the brewmaster at the Jackson brewery here. Federal agents raided the establishment and allegedly found beer containing more than the legal percent of alcohol.

Going to his attorneys, Adolph "Dolly" Gruber and William Schrimper, Sperber told them his story. Subsequent events, allegedly, resulted in the acceptance by Buckley of an arrangement whereby the brewery would be "tipped" off to raids.

For his part in the affair, Sperber was given a sentence of four months in jail. His sentence expired today.

Sperber was faced with rearrest, however, on prejury charges growing out of his testimony before the grand jury which indicted Buckley, but Judge Benson W. Hough, sitting in federal court in Columbus, nolleed these latter charges yesterday.

12 SCOUTS DIE IN DUMMY FIRE

Tragedy Follows Mock Display in British Town.

GILLINGHAM, Kent, Eng., July 12.—(INS)—An official investigation was expected to get under way late today or tomorrow to place blame for the premature destruction of a dummy house by fire, last night, during a fire fighting display in aid of a hospital charity, in which twelve Boy Scouts lost their lives.

The tragedy, starting as a mock display but ending in terrible reality, left the town of Gillingham stunned. Most of the residents of the town, and virtually all of the boys' parents, witnessed the fire. They were compelled to stand by in helpless horror while fifteen firemen and volunteers made desperate but futile efforts to rescue the hapless victims.

Investigators will seek to determine the cause of the premature ignition of the dummy building. The house had been erected on the grounds of the Gillingham hospital, and the 12 Boy Scouts were delegated to act as "residents" of the structure. The demonstration was billed as "the fireman's wedding."

EMMONS HEADS STATE BOARD

Ralph W. Emons, East Rochester, member of the state civil service commission for about two years, was appointed chairman of the commission by Governor Myers Y. Cooper, Columbus, today. He succeeds Rollin Swisher, Columbus, Democrat, who will retire from the commission next month.

The vacancy on the commission will be filled by A. P. Sandles, Democrat, of Ottawa, former state director of agriculture.

HI WALTON, 71, ACROBAT, DIES

TOLEDO, O., July 12.—(INS)—Hi Walton, aged circus performer, and older member of the famous Walton brothers' acrobatic team, who played in nearly every large city in the United States and in innumerable towns, died here last night leaving his brother, Dave, with only the memories of a colorful life.

The Walton brothers ran away from home to join a circus more than 52 years ago, and in 1919 they retired from the sawdust ring.

Hi was 70 years of age when he died, following a lingering illness.

Cleveland Drownings Total 14. CLEVELAND, July 12.—(INS)—Drownings here this year totaled 14 today when the names of Ralph H. Fyfe, 9, and Benson D. Fyfe, 6, brothers, were added to the toll. The younger boy started, late yesterday, to walk across a dam in Big creek and fell into the deep water behind it. Ralph rushed to his brother's rescue but both boys sank.

PEACE OF FAR EAST MENACED

A new menace to the peace of the Far East is rising ominously on the horizon today, following nearly 20 years of domestic and international disturbances centering in China.

An unconfirmed report was circulated out of Shanghai that China and Soviet Russia have broken off diplomatic relations.

The latest threat to the tranquility of China and Soviet Russia may involve Japanese interests in Manchuria, where the new trouble centers, according to INS dispatches.

The Chinese-Russian conflict dates back to the time when the anti-Communist element gained control of the Chinese Nationalist government, but the present crisis was precipitated directly by China's seizure of the Chinese eastern railway, which runs through Manchuria.

FAMILY STUFF

MEN, HERE'S HINT ON SUMMER TOGS

NEW YORK, July 12.—(INS)—Ideal summer clothing for men consists of a cotton union suit, socks, shoes, trousers, a thin coat with a detachable collar that can be washed and no shirt, Dr. Thomas Darlington, former health commissioner, declared today.

He urged men to follow the clothing reform inaugurated by women, who, he said, once needed the wool from four sheep to clothe them and now need only the product of "one silkworm."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

By W. S. COUSINS, International News Service Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Bears in the stock market had the surprise of their lives when the reserve board's weekly report on brokers' loans, published after the close of yesterday's market, showed a $34,000,000 shrinkage instead of an expected increase sufficient to boost the total to the highest figures on record.

Hurried short covering at the opening of the market today provided a feast for the bulls, who gleefully marked up prices of Thursday's favorites to seven points. Selling in blocks of from 10,000 to 20,000 shares at the beginning, utility stocks moved briskly into new high price ground.

During the first two hours, Consolidated Gas, at the head of the procession, jumped 7 1/2 points to 144, but receded to 139 1/4 as soon as the rush was over. Brooklyn Union Gas, in the same family, gained four points at 224, while National Power & Light moved up 3 1/3 points, North American 3 3/4 and Public Service of New Jersey nearly three points.

WASHINGTON EYES ON MANCHURIA

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(INS)—The state department was unquestionably disturbed today over the situation in Manchuria, China, where the government seized control of the Chinese eastern railroad and ousted its Russian officials and employees.

The American government fears the incident may destroy the administrative integrity of China and its "open door" policy.

Lindy and Bride in California. SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—(INS)—After assisting in inauguration of the transcontinental air transport air-rail service, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride were visiting with friends at Hillsborough today.

TUNNEY, retired heavyweight champion, is in Prague. As a real fighter, he will want to visit the tomb of an old blind king of Bohemia that never tired of fighting.

In his last battle, he had his horse chained on either side to the horse of a knight and sword in hand, galloped with the two knights in the thick of the fight, slashing at the foe until he died. Blind, he did not want to miss the fight.

However, merely charging the people more for postage would be a little TOO EASY. That is the method of a power trust, anybody can do that, with a monopoly.

PRESIDENT HOOVER, an engineer, will want service more efficient, saving money that way.

Incidentally, a couple of battleships that we would build without thinking, and that are only targets for airplanes after they are built, would equal a year's loss in the postoffice.

Art of Cadging Cheap Meal Practiced In Paris

Cadgers Dine in Bois Gratis on Same Fare As Employers.

The fine art of cadging a free or cheap meal has its devotees in Paris, who practice it with a finesse and sangfroid truly Parisian.

The most recent discovery of these artists deals with how to eat in the exclusive restaurants of the Bois de Boulogne at 50 cents or less a meal. There are at least six restaurants in the Bois where the average meal rarely falls below $10 a head.

If, however, you are hungry and a merry soul, you go gayly into the Bois and sit down at the table under the trees reserved for chauffeurs. Your neighbors may be rude fellows and the noise of their teeth on the bones of a duck may be like the roar of a glass oyster, but the food is royal and abundant.

Under the crystal chandeliers within the men who pay the chauffeurs' salaries are being served in style and

RIVER STAGE HITS 12.4 FEET

The Ohio river stage of 12.4 feet was stationary at Dam No. 8 at noon today, after a rise from rains at the headwaters of the Allegheny and Monongahela.

The J. H. Hillman, towing seven empties, the Acorn, with two empties, and the Transporter, with 10, passed here yesterday for Pittsburgh.

Contracts for the construction of five motor towboats for government service were awarded by Colonel Jarvis J. Bain, United States engineer here yesterday. The M. & O. Dredging Company bid $45 a day for the building of the "June." All contracts run for 150 days. Earl Webster bid $48 a day for the "Bessemmer;" Charles Zubick, $50 for the Bessemmer Diesel; Williamson and Faden, $55 for the motorship, "Diesel," and the Tri State Towing Company, $39 for the Criterion.

Work of building a heavy flooring in the float of the Pittsburgh Aviation corporation at the landing port for amphibian planes in the Monongahela river near the Wabash bridge, was under way today.

FIGHTS TO WED ON DEATHBED

Chevy Chase, Md., Girl Opposed by Vet's Relatives.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(INS)—Insisting on marrying her war veteran lover on his deathbed, Miss Carrie Ellen Alvord, of Chevy Chase, Md., today was waging an earnest fight to win over the sister and brother-in-law of her fiancé.

Major Abraham C. L. Percell, medical approving officer at the veterans' bureau, who has been engaged to Miss Alvord for some time, meanwhile lies near death in Mt. Alto hospital, suffering from cancer.

His sister, Mrs. Richard Wathen, and her husband came here from Elizabethtown, Ky., to prevent the marriage. They insist that staff surgeons at Mt. Alto have declared that Maj. Percell is mentally incompetent.

Miss Alvord, however, insists that her fiancé's mind is normal and is desirous of having the ceremony performed before death parts them forever.

The conflict between the Alvord and Wathen families has been raging for several months, and came out into the open when on July 2 last, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Alvord, the girl's parents, announced the engagement of the war veteran.

Last night Mrs. Wathen called at a local newspaper office with a notice for the columns that the marriage would not take place.

Man's Skull Fractured In Fall. AKRON, O., July 12.—(INS)—S. O. Dunlap, 40, of Uhrichsville, O., was in Citizens' hospital today with a fractured skull. He was injured yesterday in a fall from a scaffold at the American Vitriol Products company plant.

OHIO JURIST WILL AID JAILED SONG HIT COMPOSER IN NEW START

HAMILTON, O., July 12.—(INS)—Johnny Black, composer of "Dardanella," a song hit of a few years ago, and who since that time, according to his own admissions, has squandered $20,000, is going to start life all over again, aided by Judge A. J. Pater.

Black had been running downstage since until he landed in city jail here on an intoxication charge.

"Jail is no place for you," Judge Pater declared and then levied a $100 fine against the formerly well-known musician and composer which must be paid, unless—

Black chooses three compositions out of the 100 he has written, but which have remained unpublished.

Judge Pater's wife will play the selections on a piano.

And then, if Judge Pater find a "hit" among them, he will finance the marketing of it. The judge declared he would expect no profit for himself.

"I hope Black develops another hit," the judge concluded. "This young fellow is too talented to remain in jail."

Fliers Up 241 Hours.

abulations had been postponed only too long because of an unnecessary number of observation planes hovering nearby in the air.

"They look spick and span and happy—not the same grease balls they were yesterday afternoon," reported Slade Hubert after a refueling trip to the single-motored Angelone.

Later the endurance champions sent fluttering down a note stating all was well and the engine and plane were working smoothly. They reiterated their determination of remaining up for a total of at least 300 hours.

PICKEREL WILL HEAD OHIO BAR

Dayton Man Will Succeed John A. Elden.

CEDAR POINT, O., July 12.—(INS)—William G. Pickerel, of Dayton, was slated for election late this afternoon as president of the Ohio State Bar association which is holding its fiftieth annual convention here. John A. Elden, Cleveland, is the retiring president.

Pickerel was unopposed for election in the report of the nominating committee submitted to the convention. The polls will be opened at 4 a. m. and will close an hour later.

The nominating committee also approved the reelection of J. D. W. Henney, Columbus, as secretary, and Marshall G. Fenton, Columbus, as executive secretary.

An address by Paul V. McNutt, Bloomington, Ind., national commander of the American Legion, early this afternoon, and another by Gov. Myers Y. Cooper following the annual banquet tonight, were the features of today's program.

After Commander McNutt speaks, Judge Simon M. Johnson, Cincinnati, one of the oldest members of the bar association, will review its fifty years of history.

"Ambulance chasing" was brought up again today as it was last year, when the committee on "unethical practices" submitted its report through John A. Cline, of Cleveland. The report was attacked and defended from the floor. No action was taken on it.

Paulino Remains In Hiding

Still Suffering From Effects of Schmeling's Punches.

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, July 12.—Maybe this Schmeling can't punch the right time on a clock. Maybe there were two bums in the ring on the night of June 27 and he was practicing both of them. And maybe it wouldn't be a second-class idea for the couple-of-bums school of fight observers to drop in on Paulino at his hotel this morning, 15 full days after the fight, and receive the mute, accusing evidence of a visage that is said to bear still its resemblance to an abused cantaloupe.

A friend of Paulino's, accorded a privilege that has been denied other visitors since the bout, called on the fighter last night and, according to his story, found him with the left side of his face bruised and distorted and his left arm in a sling.
This is the arm that was broken twice in ring accidents and apparently was almost broken again by stopping Schmeling's punches. It has been virtually useless since the fight, it is said, but no less so than the fighter's left eye, which had parried so cleverly every right cross Schmeling let go in the last five rounds. Quite a portrait, this. One might never suspect that its subject was known, prior to June 27, as the Iron man of boxing.

Greater still, it seems, was the damage done to the man's spirit. Once a jovial, rollicking character, he now is said to be morose and incommunicative, refusing to see any but trusted intimates. Formerly a notorious optimist, he now is declared a talker of leaving America and seeking fight where the going might be less painful. Orhand, it might seem that Schmeling has something on his punch beside the wind that follows it. No dot-and-dash puncher could do these things to a man like Paulino.
The couple-of-bums school knows better, however. Wasn't Tunney simply the better of two bums when he beat Dempsey? And, by the way, whom did Dempsey ever lick? The couple-of-bums school always knows better. At the battle of Gettysburg, for example, any good army would have taken both sides in the same afternoon.

BRAME PITCHES BUCS TO 6-2 WIN

RODGERS IS WINNER IN FOURTH

Colored Bantam Gives Filipino Terrible Lacing.

BEAVER, Pa., July 12.—Fans who like their fights on the knock-em-down-and-drag-em-out style were given a full program last night at Junction park, four out of the five scraps on the program winding up in knock-outs.

Jackie Rodgers, the Pittsburgh colored bantamweight, stopped Pancho Dencio, Filipino, from New York, in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round main event.

Rodgers had Dencio virtually out in the third but the bell saved the Filipino. After a minute and 43 seconds of the fourth, Referee Al Grayber stopped the bout with Dencio absorbing a terrible lacing.

Frank Monroe of Homewood got the decision over Mike Brown, Youngstown, in the six-round semi-final, the only bout which went the limit.

Nick Polis of Alliquippa scored a technical knockout over Frankie Chuch of Cleveland. Chuch was saved by the bell in the first, and in the second, after two minutes and 40 seconds, Referee Grayber stopped the fight.

In a scheduled four-round go, Ted Yarosz of Monaca knocked out Jack McCarthy of Pittsburgh in the second round. Yarosz had McCarthy on the run from the start with a vicious attack and had him down twice in the first round.

George Compton of Rochester, trying a comeback after a year's layoff from a fractured jaw, lost with a technical knockout in the second round of the curtain raiser. Matty Marlow of Cleveland was the victor.

Values to $49.50

You know the position of leadership this store holds in East Liverpool and this whole section of the state. You know its quality standards, its fine service, its honest and conservative advertising.

Plans are being made now to place our store still further in the lead. There will be newer methods of merchandising; even higher standards and better values than before.

The first step in these new plans calls for the complete closing out of all the suits in our present stock. We intend to start the next season, and every season thereafter, with the newest styles, and only the newest styles.

That's one of the reasons for this great sacrifice right now.

Giants, Cubs Toil Diligently But Mark Time In Double Bill

Meanwhile, Bucs Slip Over Another on Phillies and Gain Half a Game.

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 12.—For all the world like the old lady who quit riding the merry-go-round when she discovered that it was taking her exactly nowhere, are the Cubs and Giants.

For yesterday these two baseball hopefuls toiled manfully through a humid summer afternoon and the only change that could be noted was that there were two less games on their schedules. Which is all a round about way of saying that Chicago and New York split a double header.

Heroic Mr. Wrigley's young men took the first affair, thanks to the tolling of sedate Fat Malone. Mr. McGraw's youngsters copied the second, thanks to the inability of Messrs. Blake, Horne and Neft to keep their shoots from coming back faster than they went. Hack Wilson, razed no little, cracked out two homers, while Mel Ott brought a cheer with his 25th of the year.

While the second and third place boys were going around in circles, the leading Pirates, behind the five-hit flinging om Brame, scuttled the Phillies to gain half a game. Incidents of interest are Hurst's sixteenth homer and the ending of Denny Sothern's 16 games of consecutive hitting.

Total lack of punch when Putsch meant runs cost the Robins a game with the Cards. Brooklyn had little trouble hitting Sherdel, save in the pinches.

Cincinnati shut out the Braves. This for these charitable souls who like the underdogs.

Nothing of importance in the American, due to the fact that rain kept both the Yankees and Athletics in-doors.

MOTHER OF 12 FREED IN DEATH

Charge of Murder Is Dropped at Logan, W. Va.

LOGAN, W. Va., July 12.—(INS)—Failure to locate a physician who moved from Logan county to Oregon, today had caused Prosecutor L. P. Hager, of Logan county, to recommend "habeas corpus" for the indictment under which Mrs. Nevada Wooten, 51, mother of 12 children, was held charged with the murder of her husband one year ago.

Wooten and his wife had been estranged, but had become reconciled and had gone to a picnic with their 12 children.

Soon afterwards, Wooten became violently ill and died. A chemist report charged presence of poison in the stomach but the physician who treated Wooten could not be found in Oregon so the charge was dismissed.

HOLLOW ROCK CAMP MEETING OPENS AUG. 1

New Lighting System
Installed on Jefferson County Tract.

10-DAY SERVICES

Sebring Tent Rally
Will Begin on July 19.

The ninety-fifth annual Hollow Rock Camp meeting, which has been attended by thousands throughout the years, will open on the camp ground just over the Columbiana county line in Jefferson county on Thursday, August 1, and continue until Sunday, August 11.

In anticipation of the services, a new lighting system which will cost a total of several hundred dollars is being installed. By the new arrangement lights will be extended to all cottages and other buildings on the grounds.

There are three large dormitories on the tract, each with accommodations for 50 guests. Three cottages will be reserved for visiting ministers and their families.

The tabernacle, which for several years has been utilized, will house the main services. Meetings for young people will be held in a smaller auditorium which was erected three years ago.

Musical Director Named.

The 1929 array of ministers will include the Revs. John and Bona Fleming of Ashland, Ky. The former has held services in the First Nazarene church of East Liverpool. The Rev. Dr. C. W. Bulls, of the Cleveland Bible Institute, will also attend.

A special feature will be the presence in all of the services, as musical director and soloist, of John Moore, of Pasadena, Calif. Two years ago he directed the music in the general assembly of the Nazarene church in Columbus.

The dining rooms and the dormitories on the grounds will be in charge of Mrs. Anna Brown of East Liverpool.

F. W. Poland of West Fourth street; Mrs. Eva Harker and Mrs. Emma Harrison, a sister-in-law of Mr. Poland, both of this city, form a trio who have been regularly attending the Hollow Rock meetings since 1890, 39 years in all. Mrs. Poland has also been in attendance for several years.

Another East Liverpool man who long ago has owned a cottage there is Henry S. Goodwin of West Sixth street. He is planning to attend the meeting again this year.

Ira Capehart, of East Liverpool, is erecting a new cottage. It will be ready for occupancy by the beginning of the camp meeting.

A. K. Householder, President. For some time owners of cottages have been making visits to the place and taking the preliminary steps to putting their places in condition for occupancy.

Two springs provide a water supply.

A. K. Householder, of Steubenville, is the president of the Hollow Rock Camp Meeting association. His son, Roy Householder, of Toronto, is secretary-treasurer.

In charge of activities of the association is a board of directors consisting of Milton Williams, of Stratton; Thomas Hamilton, New Castle, Pa.; J. C. Mackel, of New Cumberland, W. Va.; Edgar Pfeiffer and Frank W. Poland, of East Liverpool, and Edward Cooper, of Georgetown, Pa.

"Father" Rabe Dies. There is a note of sadness in plans for the Hollow Rock services in the recent death of "Father" Rabe of Steubenville, who for several years had charge of the widely known service referred to as the "Groaners' meeting" which meets daily at the twilight hour, was held on the hilltop overlooking the camp site. There hundreds, perhaps thousands of the most devout of the camp meeting visitors, have assembled to pray. Because in early days some in the agony of a realization of a state of sin gave vent to outward groans while prostrate upon the ground, the spot is known far and wide as "Groaners' Hill."

"Father" Rabe had attained the ripe age of 89 years before the end came to him. His passing, however, will not mean a cessation of the famed "groaners' meeting."

Camp Meeting at Sebring. Preceding the Hollow Rock services a 10-day camp meeting will be held at Sebring. It will open on July 19.

Three states will contribute ministers that are to be the daily speakers at the Sebring meeting—Indiana, Ohio and California. The ministers are the Rev. C. W. Ruth of Indianapolis; the Rev. John Knapf of Cincinnati and the Rev. Joseph Smith of California.

Among East Liverpool ministers who are interested in both camp meetings is the Rev. O. L. Benedum, of the First Nazarene church. There will be hundreds from East Liverpool who will attend both of these religious affairs, he declared.

Both camp meetings are inter-denominational.

HAWAIIAN LAND IS TRANSFERRED

HONOLULU. — Control of all land comprising Pearl and Hermes reefs, a part of the Hawaiian islands bird reservation, formerly exercised by the secretary of agriculture at Washington, has been transferred to the governor of this territory. Hereafter any one seeking to establish fishing headquarters on the reefs, such as buildings, must obtain permission from the governor.

Pearl and Hermes are coral atolls several hundred miles west of Honolulu uninhabited most of the year, save for occasional parties of Japanese sampan fishermen who make the voyage from Honolulu and spend a week or more fishing on a commercial scale, as the waters in that vicinity abound with large food fish.

Nervous And Run Down, I Had So Little Energy

Owa-Ton-Na Proved a Great Help In Removing Disorders Which Kept Me Weak.

Time after time Owa-Ton-Na proves successful after all other methods tried have failed. This is not remarkable when it is understood how Owa-Ton-Na brings results. Going after cause rather than effect, not through the use of nerve deadening drugs, but by nature's own roots, herbs, barks and berries. Owa-Ton-Na tones eliminative organs which result in more normal function; cleans eliminative tracts and in this way aids assimilation and elimination which are two of the important factors in health. Proper assimilation builds up normal disease resisting strength. Proper elimination removes from the system harmful wastes which if allowed to accumulate, would bring about disease.

Daily new users add their endorsements to the thousands who have already endorsed this fine old Indian Remedy in kidney, liver, stomach and intestinal disorders; rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness and a general run down condition of health. Mrs. Zora Richards, 211 W. Third street, East Liverpool, Ohio, recently told the special laboratory representative how Owa-Ton-Na corrected her kidney, liver, stomach and rheumatic disorders.

She says: "It certainly is wonderful to be able to find a remedy which would correct disorders which no end of other treatments failed to relieve. I can not remember the time when I felt as good as I do now. Once again I can enjoy eating a good meal for my appetite is wonderful and foods do not distress me and cause indigestion the way it has for so many years."

"Constipation, headaches and kidney disorders are all things of the past. My nerves are 100% better than they have been for years. My constipation is clearing up. I have new energy and sleep fine at night. Anyone who suffers should learn about Owa-Ton-Na and give it a good fair trial."

Mrs. Richards' results with the use of this fine old Indian Remedy are no more remarkable than thousands of other sufferers report. Let Owa-Ton-Na prove to you the way it helps in bringing back health by going today to your druggist and obtaining a bottle for yourself. All Owa-Ton-Na asks is a trial and it is certainly worth that to anyone who suffers. A special laboratory representative is daily explaining the merits of this remedy to eager health seekers at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 East Sixth street, East Liverpool. Owa-Ton-Na is also obtainable at Carnahan's East End Store and Newell, W. Va. Store.—Adv.

MOSCOW CURBS CANINE MENACE

Dog lovers are hanging on to their pets for dear life in Moscow these days. The sudden appearance of a flock of want-ads in the newspapers, announcing the advertisers have found dogs, which if not called for within three days will be considered their property, has revealed the fact that lawyers have dug up an old law intended to curb the canine menace on the streets.

The law actually prescribes that the finder of a dog may keep it if after advertising the find for three days, the owner of the animal fails to claim it.

Many tourists are visiting Jamaica.

Local Man Triumphs Over
2 Years Rheumatic Suffering

Mr. Perley F. Higgins Was So Incapacitated With Rheumatism and Neuritis Could Scarcely Get Up or Down. Says "ORANGE ROOT" Only Thing Ever Gave Him Relief—Feeling Fine Now.

Mr. Perley F. Higgins of R. D. No. 1, Box 210, East Liverpool, Ohio, employed by the township as steam shovel driver, took everything under the sun for his awful case of rheumatism and obtained no relief till he took 4 bottles of the famous ORANGE ROOT. Here is what he says: "I suffered 2 years with rheumatism and neuritis. I had such misery with this terrible malady I could scarcely get up and down. My body was so filled with aches and pains I did not know what to do. Terrible pains would shoot thru my arms and shoulders. My hips and lower limbs were so affected I could hardly get around at times. My rest was so disturbed that sleep was impossible. This suffering run for 2 years and nothing seemed to reach the seat of the trouble. I had tried all kinds of medicine but to no effect. My body became weak and rundown from suffering and lack of rest. At last ORANGE ROOT was recommended and I decided to give it a trial. Words cannot express my feelings, when after taking the first bottle and a few of those golden Nuggets, my pains had left entirely and after finishing the fourth bottle, I felt like a new made man. My whole body had been built up and strengthened. The golden Nuggets have rid me of constipation and biliousness, and I do not have any more dizzy spells or sluggish feeling. I cannot praise these ORANGE ROOT remedies too highly for they surely did restore me to HEALTH. This famous compound of IRON and HERBS is the world's biggest seller. Thousands all over the nation owe their present good health to it, and to it alone. Go at once to MATHEWS MEDICINE STORE, get 3 or 4 bottles of the tonic, a box of the golden Nuggets, take them according to directions, and you will be surprised how quickly your general health improves and all aches and pains of rheumatism leave you. Prices, TONIC, $1.25, Nuggets 50c. All live drug stores here and in nearby towns stock and sell lots of ORANGE ROOT.

New Mystery Story of "Gray Phantom," Loveable Outlaw.

By Herman Landon

Copyright by Street and Smith Corporation.

Helen's Voice!
It was Helen's. The recognition came on a tumultuous crash of emotions that left him momentarily dazed. He sprang to his feet, trying to steady the maddening uproar in his head, and ran to the point where he had seen the wedge of light. It was gone now, leaving an intensified gloom behind it. The silence that followed the single outcry seemed to silence the die and commotion within him. Everything was so still and dark that the voice and the light though they had been startlingly real a moment ago, might have been only remnants of a dream.

The Hidden Room.
A shout rose in Vanardy's throat, but he stifled it in time. It would not do to call Helen's name, for the cry might arouse the other occupants of the house, and there was no one whom he could wholly trust, save possibly Culligore—and Culligore was The Gray Phantom's sworn enemy. There was a frenzy in his veins as his hands groped over the tantalizing blankness of a wall. He was certain as to the point where the light had appeared, but there was no sign of a door. He tried to control his burning impatience, telling himself that the prowler must reappear sooner or later and that his only practical course was to compose himself for a wait.

Minutes dragged with the slow tread of hours. He felt hot and feverish with a parched sensation in his throat.

Unable to keep still, he walked back and forth in front of the spot where the light had appeared, the echoes of Helen's voice shooting through his brain with maddening insistence, conjuring up visions of a pair of unseen hands reaching out for the girl he loved.

Of a sudden he paused, staring fixedly into the darkness. A sound, faint and fugitive, hammered loudly at his senses. It did not seem to come from the exact location where the prowler had disappeared, but a little farther down the hall. A streak of light appeared, growing rapidly wider, and in an instant he darted back against the opposite wall, waiting until a shadow fell across the patch of light.

In a moment he felt amazingly cool. The furious beat of his pulses quieted down. For an instant longer he remained in the sheltering shadows, then stepped briskly toward the tall figure standing in the opening, looking nervously up and down the corridor.

"Well, William?" he said quietly.

A gasp issued raspingly from the servant's throat. A look of consternation crossed his pale face. His hand, clutching a pistol, came upward. With a firm push Vanardy sent him back through the opening. They were in a short hall, extending at right angles to the main corridor, with a door in the back and an electric light in a wall fixture.

William, cocking his head to one side and peering with sudden intentness at Vanardy, retreated until he stood with his back to the door. His face was white, but there was a determined twist to his lips, and he was quickly recovering from the shock he had received. "What do you wish, Mr. Dawson?" he asked in a tone that was a curious mingling of insolence and formal politeness.

"I might demand an explanation of you," said Vanardy, "but I haven't time for that now. I want to see what is behind that door."

He came forward, pointing at a door behind the servant's back. William regarded him with a look of malignant determination. The pistol rose a little higher in his hand.

"Not another step, Mr. Dawson," he said grittily. "You'll be a dead man the moment you touch me."

"Very theatrical, William, but you couldn't stop me with a machine gun. Stand aside!"

With a recklessness that had its effect on William, he walked straight toward the menacing pistol. There was a smile on his lips, a metallic glitter in his eyes.

"Stop," cried William shakily. "I swear I'll shoot if you don't!"

Vanardy laughed, dodged to the side, and with an incredibly swift movement sprang on the servant and wrenched the pistol from his hand. With a snarl of rage and bafflement, William struck out with his fist, but Vanardy caught his hand in a grip that drew a cry of pain from him. Seizing him by the neck, he flung him easily to the floor and placed a knee on his chest.

"I don't trust you, William," he said levelly.

"I'm afraid you might prove an annoyance unless I protect myself. Let me see."

For a moment his eye rested on the tassled cord around the drab dressing gown the servant wore. Despite William's strenuous objections he detached it and wound it tightly around his wrists. Severing the remaining length he tied the man's feet in an expert manner.

"I won't put you to the humiliation of gagging you," he remarked. "Something tells me that you have no intention of calling for help. It might lead to embarrassing questions."

For a moment he stood looking down at his captive, who squirmed and tugged impotently at the cords, then walked to the door, and flung it open. It turned heavily, as if constructed to resist assault. The interior was dark, but the moment he entered the impression came to him that he was not alone.

"Who is there?" he asked a faint voice.

A thrill swept through him, causing his impulses to beat with a fierce ecstasy.

"Helen! Where are you?"

A glad little cry sounded in the gloom. "Phantom Man!"

He rushed forward, arms outstretched. A trembling form sprang into his arms and nestled there, alternating between sobs and soft laughter.

"Oh, Phantom Man, I'm so glad!" she murmured, and then she was silent for a while, being content to feel the touch of his arms and hear his caressing voice. "I knew you would come," she ventured. "You have never failed me, Phantom Man. But when the door opened, I couldn't know who it was, and I was frightened."

I switched off the light and tried to hide, forgetting there was no place to hide in. Hold me close, Phantom Man! I don't know whether I want to laugh or cry."

She did a little of each as his hand softly brushed her face, playing with her silken and fragrant coils of hair.

"We must have light," she said after a while. "I want to see if it is really you."

She stepped out of his arms, and in a few moments' with a faint click, a light appeared. She turned and stood facing him, her large brown eyes widening.

"Oh!" she gasped. "I thought—"

He laughed reassuringly, just then remembering his borrowed role. "Yes, it is really I," he told her, "though I have convinced certain people that I am Philip Dawson, amateur criminologist. You don't seem to like my get-up."

"I like you best when you are yourself," she said gravely. "You look entirely too dignified the way you are now. I am a little bit afraid of you. But I understand." An uneasy look dimmed her smiling eyes. "The Gray Phantom is a hunted man."

"As if that mattered!" he laughed lightly and stood looking at her with a longing expression. Her eyes were moist and shining. A tinge of color was already creeping up beneath the pallor of her face.

She was in a simple blue dress with a gray sash embellished with a small rosette of paler gray.

"It doesn't she answered. "See," indicating the gray sash and the gray rosette. "I am still wearing the Gray Phantom's colors. I shall always wear them, no matter what happens. I was unjust to you the last time I saw you, Phantom Man. I felt as if a part of my life had been torn out of me. Everything has become clear since then. I understand now why you took the course you did. Can you forgive me?"

"Nothing to forgive," he murmured softly. "I am only blaming myself. I tried to compromise between good and bad, and I got out of my depth. No serious harm was done, though, except—"

His face turned grave. "Have you found any trace of your father?"

The brightness died out of her eyes.

"Yes, but I lost it again. That night after I left you and Wade, I saw a man in a restaurant across the street who answered the description of Whipple. After a little he drove off in a big yellow car, and I followed him in my runabout."

"That was reckless," he said reprovingly. "Will you never learn to think before you leap?"

Three cars of the same make lined up abreast on a wide boulevard. Presto! The red light changes to green. Zip! . . . One car flashes away from the others like a greyhound from a pair of lumbering English bulls.

What made the difference? A few months ago, you'd have said "An extra quality gasoline at an extra cost." But today, the well-posted motorist would say: "It's probably Hi-test TYDOL. An extra quality gas without any extra cost."

Hi-test TYDOL, a high-test, anti-knock, super-power gasoline, at the price of ordinary gasoline, is the most notable success in Tide Water's fifty years of progressive history.

But if all the cars using Hi-test TYDOL, in brilliant and outstanding performance, carried its name on their gas-tanks, we couldn't fill the demand.

Work of Blacksmith Goes Into Limbo Of Forgotten Activities In Ceramic City

Three or Four Veteran Shoers Are On Job.

"Under the spreading chestnut tree The village smithy stands. The smith, a mighty man is he, With strong and sinewy hands. And the muscles of his brawny arms Are strong as iron bands."

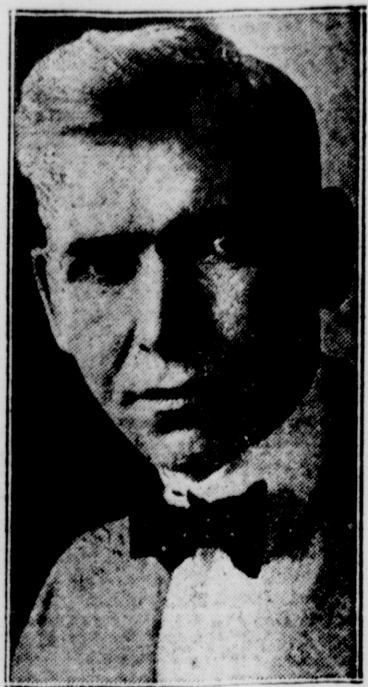

Gone into the limbo of almost forgotten activities is the work of a blacksmith in East Liverpool by this year of 1929. Only three or four of those, who in by-gone days exhibited "brawny arms" and "sinewy hands" of the description made famous in Henry W. Longfellow's classic poem, remain active to tell of their once prowess in welding huge sledges while riveting together steel and iron wagon tires or who from early morn to late at night drove nails into hoofs of horses.

"Old Dobbin" and the "old grey mare" of the Victorian period have been eliminated by the automobile and airplane.

No Bellows to Stimulate Fire.

And so it has come about that in a city of some 25,000 inhabitants the "clink" of hammers on anvils is rarely heard. One shop, manned by the veteran horseshoers, Benjamin Grosshans and John Garvey, is operated in Rural lane, just off Dresden avenue. Another may be noted in West Eighth street where another veteran blacksmith, whose father, grandfather and great-grandfather pioneered in the same work before him, has also a two-anvil shop. He is J. R. Shawke, who is assisted by his son.

ON FARM BOARD

Carl Williams of Oklahoma City, Okla., who has been named a member of President Hoover's farm relief board. Mr. Williams is chairman of the National Cooperative Cotton Marketing committee.

But they do not horseshoeing and for a long time have been engaged in making pottery tools, etc.

And there is not a single bellows for stimulating fire to burn the iron on which work is done in either of these two shops. And what is a blacksmith shop without bellows?

But the Grosshans-Garvey place has stocks lined against the wall which are still used when the few horses that come to them show obstreperous tendencies.

Undertakers Ruined Smith Business. And the singular thing about the decline of blacksmithing in East Liverpool is that it was all brought about by undertakers. That is to say those engaged in this profession made the initial gesture, latter followed by many others which made for ruin to this one-time flourishing business.

Catching the tendency of the new day approaching East Liverpool, undertakers motorized their institutions. Thus they did away with all of their horses. When the fact is realized that sometimes blacksmiths would arrive before daylight to shoe some 34 horses prior to a funeral cortege of horse-drawn equipment on icy pavements, something of the loss accruing to blacksmithing may be envisioned.

Lumbermen, wholesale houses and practically all using horses for deliveries found thereafter that they could the better utilize trucks and gradually horses went into discard and the local blacksmith shops began one by one to disappear.

"Even farmers have long taken to automobiles," declared Grosshans in discussing the passing of blacksmith shops. "Practically all of them come to town now in machines. Therefore, there is no real need in most cases of having their horses shod at all. In some instances, I am told, farmers now shoe their own horses when it becomes necessary to do so."

Motor Supplants Bellows.

"In the old days I can recall well how it was necessary to get up before daylight to get all of the horses needing shoes shod on certain days. All of the open spaces about our shops would be filled with them. And the horses would have to take their turn. We used to have to employ men to aid us in shoeing."

Cost of Horseshoes Increases.

He also noted the great increase in price of material for horseshoes at this time.

"In the old days horses were sometimes shod for 80 cents. If now costs all the way to $3.40 now," said Grosshans. "To put on 34 shoes in a day no wise an exceptional occurrence. It used to be an ordinary departure to shoe 100 horses a day. Indeed, I can recall once that 460 horses were shod by us in a day. We had several men then, of course. But there was a time with but two of us here that we put shoes on 110 horses before dinner and finished 205 that day," he said.

Instead of the old time bellows to put fire into the coal for heating the iron a motor is installed at each forge now and the heat is electrically generated. After the bellows became passe a wheel was utilized. One of the Shawkes forges is thus equipped and another has been arranged for electrical treatment in the same manner as those in the Grosshans-Garvey shop.

Grosshans Dean of Blacksmiths. In the Grosshans-Garvey shop may be still seen a mound of the silvered hoof taken from horses in shoeing which is sold to farmers for fertilizing purposes.

Grosshans, now 67, is dean of East Liverpool blacksmiths. He is rounding out 47 years of experience behind the anvil. He has been located for 27 years in Rural lane. Before that he was for a 11-year period in Dresden avenue and he started out on Washington street where, during and following his apprenticeship, he served nine years.

Politics took from East Liverpool perhaps its biggest blacksmith physically. V. A. "Fete" Schreiber doffed his leather apron for the mayor's chair. Then he became active with the Ohio Anti-Saloon League, as such, a state figure. But like the Grosshans, the Harveys and the Shawkes he was a good blacksmith.

And to have been a good blacksmith is a distinct accomplishment. Authority for such a viewpoint comes from Calvin Coolidge, who proudly tells what a fine blacksmith his father, John Coolidge, was. Even so East Liverpool will and does remember their blacksmiths—those men whose arms were "strong as iron bands." Well did Longfellow aver of them: "Mighty men were they all!"
